Online YM Community and the Apex Campus

ABWA's online tools for collaboration and training

Presented by
Julie Sullivan

The YM Online Community is how members of the American Business Women's Association can connect across the United States. This is a place to collaborate with members and find information on the Association's programs. The Apex Campus is where members can take courses to further their careers.

Julie is a 16-year member of ABWA, a former District V Vice President, and a 2014 Top Ten - a national honor. Top Tens are chosen for their education, career accomplishments, community involvement, and contributions to the American Business Women's Association.

As an Ambassador for ABWA, Julie serves as an advocate and communicator of the Association's mission within the organization as well as in her personal and professional life. Julie currently serves in her third year as the Eastern Michigan's Council Chair and she is the Treasurer for the Suburban Connection Charter Chapter, which meets in Utica.
