Child Development from Two Different Perspectives

Teachers for our children have a serious impact on their learning and their life. We are privileged to have two educators joining us to discuss their work. Debra Thomas is a Wisdom Life Kids Coach with a commitment to fostering holistic growth in children. She focuses on providing a journey for children marked by growth, empowerment and a positive impact on their families. Judith Hofweber, who has a professional music background, uses the performing arts to teach reading and pre-reading to preschool aged children. She has successfully worked with Head Start to help children -- 25 percent who have survived trauma.

Each of these presenters has much to offer children but also all attendees in understanding the work that they do and how they do it.
